Then click on continue to next step. If you choose Choose for All you will be taken to the product screen where you can choose your print size, followed by the options for border or borderless, and color/sepia/bw . If you choose Choose for Each you will be taken to your first photo. On this screen you will be asked to select your product type. The Add a Product will be blinking in the left hand side of the screen. At any time you can return to the previous screen or remove a photo. After you have selected your product you will be taken to the next screen that asked for Matte/glossy, border or borderless, and color/sepia/bw options. Click next when you have your options selected. The next screen will ask how many prints you want for this photo. Click Continue to Next Step, where you will be asked if you would like to apply these selections to all your photos or only this photo. If you select Choose for Each then the next screen will be your current photo you are working on. You can edit your photo here (crop, rotate, reduce red eye, ect).
